

[BTG] RECRUITMENT

Environmental Policy

As a recruitment agency, we are a provider of services rather than products. However, in our normal course of business day to day, we make use of a range of natural and man-made resources. BTG appreciates that as well as influencing our environment, we are constantly being influenced by it. We understand therefore, the environmental benefits of reducing the consumption of these resources and to encourage our staff to seek alternative options and make use of recycling initiatives wherever they may be practical. We are committed to continual improvement in our environmental performance, and minimising adverse environmental impacts where reasonably practicable. This also makes good business sense as the fewer resources we use, the less we pay for those resources.